Report Submitted by: Dr. Charan Kuchi, NCC Air Wing Care Taker Officer (CTO).
Venue: MITS (Deemed to be University), Madanapalle
NCC Unit: 11(A) Air Squadron (Tech) NCC, Tirupati
Visiting Officer: Group Captain R. J. Atre, Commanding Officer

1. Introduction

The NCC Air Wing of MITS (Deemed to be University), Madanapalle, organized the first-year NCC Air Wing cadet selection programme for the academic year 2026–2027 on 21 October 2026. Group Captain R. J. Atre, Commanding Officer of 11(A) Air Squadron (Tech) NCC, Tirupati, visited the institute to conduct the selection process and interact with aspiring NCC cadets.

The visit aimed to identify enthusiastic, disciplined, and motivated students for enrollment in the NCC Air Wing and to encourage their participation in activities promoting leadership, character development, teamwork, and national service.

2. Visit of the Commanding Officer

Group Captain R. J. Atre was welcomed by the institute authorities and the NCC Air Wing Care Taker Officer.

During his visit, the Commanding Officer interacted with the students and emphasized the importance of discipline, dedication, physical fitness, leadership qualities, and a sense of responsibility. He highlighted the opportunities available through NCC, particularly in aviation-related activities, personality development, and careers in the Armed Forces.

He also encouraged students to actively participate in NCC training programmes, institutional activities, and national-level camps to develop confidence, teamwork, and organizational skills.

3. Selection of First-Year NCC Air Wing Cadets

The selection programme was conducted for interested first-year students seeking enrollment in the NCC Air Wing for the academic year 2026–2027.

The Commanding Officer assessed the suitability and motivation of the aspiring cadets for NCC training. Students were encouraged to demonstrate discipline, commitment, enthusiasm, and willingness to participate in the various activities organized by the NCC unit.

A total of 15 students were selected for enrollment in the NCC Air Wing for the academic year 2026–2027.

The selected students will undergo NCC training and participate in activities such as drill, physical fitness, aviation-related awareness, aeromodelling, leadership development, and NCC camps as per the unit's training schedule.

4. Recognition of AIVSC 2026 Achievers

During the visit, Group Captain R. J. Atre congratulated the NCC Air Wing cadets of MITS who successfully participated in the All India Vayu Sainik Camp (AIVSC) 2026, held at Air Force Station, Tambaram, Tamil Nadu, from 1 to 13 October 2026.

The following cadets were appreciated for their achievement:

1. CPL G. Rudra Teja (CSE-AI&ML)
2. CPL Y. Suchitra (CSE-AI&ML)
3. CDT C. Gireesha (CSE-DS)

The Commanding Officer appreciated their dedication, commitment, and successful participation in the prestigious national-level NCC camp. He encouraged the newly selected students to take inspiration from their seniors and strive for excellence in future NCC activities and competitions.

5. Interaction with Institute Authorities

During the programme, the Commanding Officer interacted with the institute representatives, including Dr. C. Yuvaraj, Vice-Chancellor, and Dr. C. Kamal Basha, Vice-Principal.

The discussions highlighted the importance of NCC in developing responsible citizens, strengthening leadership qualities, and providing students with opportunities for personal and professional development.

The institute expressed its continued commitment to supporting NCC Air Wing activities and encouraging students to participate in training camps, aviation-related programmes, and other NCC initiatives.

6. Outcomes of the Visit

The visit led to the successful selection of 15 first-year students for enrollment in the NCC Air Wing during the academic year 2026–2027.

The programme also strengthened coordination between MITS and 11(A) Air Squadron (Tech) NCC, Tirupati. The interaction with the Commanding Officer motivated students to develop leadership qualities, maintain discipline, improve physical fitness, and explore career opportunities in the Armed Forces.

The recognition of AIVSC 2026 participants further encouraged both existing and newly selected cadets to actively participate in NCC activities and strive for higher achievements.

7. Conclusion

The visit of Group Captain R. J. Atre, Commanding Officer of 11(A) Air Squadron (Tech) NCC, Tirupati, to MITS (Deemed to be University), Madanapalle, on 21 October 2026 was successfully completed.

The selection of 15 first-year NCC Air Wing cadets marked an important step towards strengthening NCC activities at the institute. The motivational interaction and appreciation of national-level camp participants provided valuable encouragement to the students.

The NCC Air Wing of MITS remains committed to promoting aviation skills, aeromodelling, discipline, leadership, teamwork, patriotism, and service to the nation through structured NCC training and participation in various activities.
