WELCOME ADDRESS

The Coordinator of the Program Mr.V.Naveen, AP/CST gave the welcome address by stating "Sunshine is a welcome thing, It brings a lot of brightness It's a welcomed gift to encourage other to achieve greatness".

To achieve greatness more people are gathered today here for One Day National Level Technical Symposium INVICTA'2k23.He gave greetings to our honorable Principal Dr.C.Yuvaraj sir in his absence and then he welcomed a guest of honor for this occasion it's our dynamic Vice Principal-Academics Dr.P.Ramanathan sir and then he gave warm welcome to respectable persons of CST department Dr. Basabi Chakraborty, Dean/CST & Dr.M.Sreedevi, HOD/CST & Convener of this event. Finally he shared his greetings to Dr.K.Sree divya, AP/CST & Coordinator of the Event with all the students & participants of One Day National Level Technical Symposium INVICTA'2K23.

ABOUT INVICTA'2K23

The Coordinator of the Program Dr.K.Sree divya, AP/CST gave a brief note about INVICTA'2K23 Igniting the Aspiring Minds of young Professionals. She listed that totally 9 Events are organized under the symposium. In addition, she said that this is a firm event where it is a combination of Technical and Non-technical events. There are 5 technical events like Paper Presentation, Tech with Fun, Code Hunt, Pseudo Quiz, Three Level gaming and 4 Non-technical events like F3,SQUID,PUBG&FREE FIRE and Treasure hunt. Totally 100 Plus registrations we got for both technical and Non-technical events. She added with, sure all the students that you will enjoy this symposium, you will get more logical and analytical skills through the technical event, and you will get more enjoyment with Non-technical events. Finally, she assured that the dayy will be a fun filled day and talented students will be surely rewarded, she also quoted that even participation is important than winning so take part in each event with spirit. She ends up by blessing all with good luck.

ABOUT DEPARTMENT AND SYMPOSIUM NOTE

Followed by Dr.M.Sreedevi, HOD/CST gave a note by saying we have caption like igniting the tech minds so we are all technical people so again we are making the caption as igniting, every day we have to ignite to learn the new things this symposium is the one of the platform that we can learn something as well as whatever known we can enhance our knowledge that is what the platform there are many Technical events and Non-Technical events too to enjoy the day and you can learn also. P0She requested each one to participate or being audience also, you can learn something so be audience or be participant you can learn. Finally, she said her wishes to all to have a great day.

Later, Dr. Basabi Chakraborty, Professor/Dean, CST, shared her happiness on inaugurating such symposium, she stated the actual dictionary definition of symposium is something where the limited group of people makes and discuss about something some topic of their interest, now here also it implies that limited student community today makes for this one day technical symposium to discuss something about their interest so they organize as Technical and Non-technical, because I also think the student community has a lot of interest not only in technical knowledge and but also now to use this technical knowledge for non-technical one but today us you see this department of computer science and technology as everybody knows that computer science is going lot of developments and we are seeing new things depending on this AI development and new developments of chatgpt.

We have many sorts of technical realities which are coming to real interactive things but I do not know how many of you know that is chatgpt asked last week some of the elite people asked not to stop the development of AI because the problem is always with us. The technology that the things are good the best when we use them in best way. The main problem is that how we use the technology, how we use the technology for improvement of humankind and destruction of humankind that problem is the question here. We should develop the technology only in the good way and responsible manner. Main important thing is to join and use your brain to find out the way new ideas how we use technology in comfortable and development way. One more thing she added as like a request to the students your excitement not to be expressed in chatting and to be in thinking try to be a responsible person with your peers and with your passion and how you can develop the technology in more fruitful manner. Finally, she thanked for giving an opportunity.

CHIEF GUEST ADDRESS & CD LAUNCH

The Chief Guest for One day National Level Technical Symposium is our beloved,

Dr. P.Ramanathan, Vice-Principal/Academics, He expressed his happiness by thanking the event organizers of the department of CST. He added with saying it's a pleasant morning for every body and he said that symposium is nothing but going to fill some gaps for the student community and he shared some views on this like nowadays many of the students have shyness to come and present themselves in front of others that is very great barrier among students community at this generation so what I am suggesting is all the student should participate maximum in all the events participation is the first way to achieve success in life, if you don't try then success is very far whether you fail also it doesn't matter participation need to be in right path.

Your own age students from other colleges feel comfortable and participate, winning does not matter here some of the dignitaries already conveyed to you.

Then he added up with second thing that we always to be in learn mode from our peers and to be in self-learning this only guide you in right path, today lot of amendment material available in net or in library or where ever you go and whether we are utilizing them and enhancing our knowledge that is biggest question mark I request that now it is the right time if you want to self-learn it may be difficult one but learning from others experience and others participation if you engage if you active and engage yourself in learning it will be good for you and improving your skillset nowadays, all the industries are expecting variety of skill set then only you become employable, I need not convey this many of IT industries are in layoff mode not because of they don't have jobs they want the candidate with skill set then only they can hold, nowadays not always they see the candidates and train certain period of time then give you job but now on the boarding itself they are expecting necessary and essential skill set so in that direction events like symposium, workshops, seminars should be organized periodically so all the students must participate actively this is my second request as he said. He further took opportunity to congratulate the department of CST led by Dr.M.Sreedevi madam for organizing this event for the benefit of students and he thanked Principal Sir and management for encouraging to organize such events thank you for this opportunity.
