Event: Alumni Interaction on Awareness program on Cost analysis in Mechanical Engineering.

Keynote Address : Mr. Mahesh

Number of participants: 58

Introduction:

The Alumni Interaction on Awareness program on Cost analysis in Mechanical Engineering , held on October 24, 2023, at west block 110 was a remarkable gathering that brought together alumni, students, and faculty. The event was led and introduced by our esteemed Head of Department Dr.S.Baskaran and meticulously organized under the guidance of the Alumni Coordinator. The highlight of the evening was an enlightening speech delivered by our distinguished alumni, Mr. Mahesh, who shared invaluable insights into cost-saving strategies specifically tailored for mechanical engineering students.

Event Highlights:

The event commenced with a warm welcome by Dr. S. Baskaran, who extended gratitude to all attendees for their presence and emphasized the importance of alumni engagement in the continued growth of our institution. He also highlighted the significant role that alumni play in inspiring and guiding current students in their academic and professional pursuits.

Keynote Address by Mr.Mahesh:

Mr. Mahesh, an accomplished alumni and a prominent figure in the field of mechanical engineering, took the stage to deliver his keynote address. His speech was both informative and motivating, as he drew from his own experiences and shared practical strategies to help mechanical engineering students manage their finances effectively.

Mahesh touched upon various aspects of a mechanical engineering student's life, including educational expenses, project costs, internships, and extracurricular activities. The key points from his speech included:

Budgeting for Engineering Students: Mahesh stressed the importance of creating a comprehensive budget tailored to the unique financial demands of mechanical engineering students. He provided tips on allocating funds for project materials, workshops, and research.

Utilizing University Resources: He encouraged students to make the most of the university's facilities, including workshops, laboratories, and research centers, to minimize external expenses.

Scholarships and Grants: Mahesh highlighted the availability of scholarships and grants specifically for engineering students and urged them to explore these opportunities to ease their financial burden.

Networking and Industry Connections: He emphasized the significance of building professional networks within the engineering community, as this can lead to internships, sponsorships, and financial support.

Q&A Session:

Following Mahesh's speech, an engaging question-and-answer session allowed attendees to seek further clarification and advice on cost-saving strategies tailored to mechanical engineering students.

Vote of Thanks by Alumni Coordinator:

Mr. Muthulakshmanan expressed gratitude to Mr. Mahesh for his invaluable insights and to Dr. S. Baskaran for leading and introducing the event. Mr. Muthulakshmanan highlighted the importance of alumni involvement in the growth of the college and encouraged all attendees to continue participating in such events.

Networking and Interaction:

The event provided an excellent platform for alumni, students, and faculty to connect, share experiences, and foster meaningful relationships. Attendees exchanged contact information and discussed potential collaboration opportunities.

Conclusion:

The Alumni Meeting on Awareness program on Cost analysis in Mechanical Engineering in Student Life was an informative and inspiring event that left a lasting impact on all participants. Mr. Mahesh's expertise and insights were particularly valuable to our mechanical engineering students, equipping them with the knowledge and strategies to navigate their academic journey while managing their finances efficiently.

We extend our sincere appreciation to Mahesh, Dr. S. Baskaran, Mr. Muthulakshmanan and all attendees for making this event a success. We look forward to more such enriching interactions and opportunities for learning and growth in the future.
